The PMRA re-evaluates older active ingredients and their uses to determine their continued acceptability in light of current regulatory standards. Trichloro-s-triazinetriene is now under re-evaluation as per paragraph 16(2)(a) of the PCPA.

As one of the initial steps, the PMRA will consider the assessments underlying recent consultation and decision documents (for example, Evaluation Reports, Proposed Registration or Registration Decision documents) in order to determine whether these address the entire use pattern or whether any areas need to be updated to meet current standards.
